COALITION FOR CLINICAL TRIAL EQUITY

Collaboration. Innovation. Transformation.

The Coalition for Clinical Trial Equity (CCTE) is seeking members who share our mission to collaborate on developing innovative strategies that transform the landscape of clinical trial participation for Black patients.

What is the Coalition for Clinical Trial Equity?

CCTE is a collaborative initiative launched by the Foundation for Sarcoidosis Research (FSR) to address disparities in clinical trial participation, particularly among Black Americans. Our mission is to foster a more inclusive research landscape by dismantling barriers and increasing representation of Black patients in clinical trials. Through collective efforts, the coalition seeks to pave the way for more equitable access to clinical trials and ultimately improve health outcomes for Black patients.

We have a strong team of organizational partners, esteemed academic institutions, patients and world-renowned clinicians, researchers and bioethicists leading the coalition's efforts.

JOIN NOW COALITION FOR CLINICAL TRIAL EQUITY

Together we've:

- Partnered with corporations to provide paid time off for clinical trials participation.
- Secured a groundbreaking clarification from the U.S. Department of Labor ensuring FMLA benefits provide protected leave for employees participating in clinical trials.

Get Involved!

CCTE has three pillars of focus:

- FMLA & Corporate Infrastructure to confront job-related barriers to participation.
- Patient Education & Engagement to close the gap in knowledge and transparency through community-building.
- Patient Benefit & Compensation to expand benefits and compensation for patients.

Join the Coalition for Clinical Trial Equity to collaborate on driving systemic change with targeted, pragmatic strategies focused on advocacy, education, and support!

Visit www.ignorenomore.org to learn more about the coalition and how you can join.

Sponsored by Mallinckrodt Pharmaceuticals, Boehringer-Ingelheim, and made possible in part by a grant from 23andMe.

Mallinckrodt Pharmaceuticals
Boehringer Ingelheim

Meet our Founding Steering Committee Members:

American Heart Association 100 Years Bold Hearts
ATS American Thoracic Society
Global Genes Allies in Rare Disease
EveryLife Foundation for Rare Diseases
Boston University
ECU
Mallinckrodt Pharmaceuticals
National Medical Fellowships
Cleveland Clinic
Rutgers
Washington University in St. Louis 1853
Alliance to Cure Cavernous Malformation
Northwestern Medicine Canning Thoracic Institute
MedStar Health
Cedars Sinai
MUSC Medical University of South Carolina
UF Health University of Florida Health
MetroHealth
Boehringer Ingelheim
FSR Foundation for Sarcoidosis Research

Bioethicists

Arthur Caplan, PhD
Jennifer Miller, PhD
Sonya Charles, PhD

Patients & Care Partner*

Kathryn Washington, MPH
Jessica Propps*
Mary Oldham
Purvis Hunt, MA

Membership Opportunities

Benefits

- Logo posted on coalition's website.
- Opportunity to join one of three committee workgroups to lead efforts in clinical trials diversity.
- Acknowledgement on public-facing materials (presentations, website, publications, etc.).
- Receive coalition badge to add to your website highlighting your commitment to equity.
- Recognized as partner on groundbreaking accomplishments like the FMLA benefit for participants.

Membership:

Non-Profit

Non-profit Membership is complementary.

Industry/ For-Profit

Annual membership fees are tiered by company budget:

- $1,000 (Less than $1M)
- $2,500 ($1 - $5M)
- $5,000 ($5 - $10M)
- $7,500 ($10 - $25M)
- $10,000 (Over $25M)

Ask about how you can support coalition initiatives like our paid time off initiative. This initiative partners with employers to provide paid time off for employees participating in clinical trials.
Contact: ignorenomore@stopsarcoidosis.org

Visit www.ignorenomore.org to learn more.

COALITION FOR CLINICAL TRIAL EQUITY
★ MEMBER ★
2025